Wood River Water Collaborative Meeting

Date and Time: July 21, 2015, 3:00 – 5:00

Location: Big Wood Canal Company Office, 409 North Apple Street, Shoshone, Idaho

3:00 Introductions and meeting overview

Ground Rules

- Candid participation
- Respect the opinions of others
- Listen actively

3:10 Review the recently agreed upon SRBA term sheet in order to provide us with some ideas of how we may pursue a similar agreement for the Wood River watershed.

3:30 Identify key user-groups and begin to identify individuals who can “represent” and communicate within each group. For each group we will work through the following questions in order to begin to create consensus on potential terms for a Wood River Watershed term sheet.

- What are the core needs?
- What can be done to reduce water demand?
- What types of water uses may be eliminated?
- What kinds of incentives would water users be willing to agree to?

4:15 Determine ways to take conceptual ideas we come up with and ground truth them with each water user group to be used to inform the process for the Wood River water collaborative.

4:45 What information are we missing that would help inform our ability to create and implement the necessary solutions to our basin’s water supply challenges?
